Each year, research conducted at the University of Oregon contributes millions of outside dollars to the Oregon economy, generating jobs and fueling innovation.

In 2014, sponsored expenditures—outside funding supporting research activities at the University of Oregon—totaled $110 million.

Faculty researchers at the University of Oregon provide invaluable expertise to local, state, and national policymakers and confront global challenges that improve the health and well-being of people throughout the world.

The Office of the Vice President for Research and Innovation supports the interdisciplinary centers at the University of Oregon that drive discovery and generate economic growth.

Learn more: research.uoregon.edu