Announcements

Andrew Carnegie Fellows Program

The Carnegie Corporation of New York is resuming its annual request for nominations for the highly prestigious Andrew Carnegie Fellows Program. The topic for this year is political polarization, an issue “characterized by threats to free speech, the decline of civil discourse, disagreement over basic facts, and a lack of mutual understanding and collaboration. In combination, these factors fracture our society, cause Americans to abandon the middle ground, and ultimately undermine our democracy.” Though the exact timeline for this year’s competition has not been announced yet, the short turnaround between the announcement and the deadline has prompted the OVPRI to start the pre-proposal process now, allowing ample time for nominees to prepare competitive applications. Note that the UO may nominate both a junior scholar and a senior scholar for this award. A junior scholar is defined as who received their doctorate within the last 10 years (2013–2023). Questions about this program should be directed to Foundation Relations. Interested candidates should submit a pre-proposal for internal review by July 17, 2023.
