

Funding Opportunities

November 14, 2023

Announcements

Research Development Services Funding Opportunities Newsletter

Research Development Services will not produce a Funding Opportunities newsletter the week of Thanksgiving break. The newsletter will resume on Tuesday, November 28.

How to Apply for External Funding Training Video

If you are new to the university and are interested in applying for funding from sources external to the institution to support your research, the Office of the Vice President for Research and Innovation has created an external funding training video to help you understand some of the important steps that must be taken before applying to an external grant opportunity. This video and other training resources are available on the Acquiring Funding and Writing Your Proposal Training webpage. In addition, Research Development Services is available to provide narrative critiques prior to submission of your application.
