Strategies for Success: Applying for Division of Education Programs Funding from the National Endowment for the Humanities

The National Endowment for the Humanities \(NEH\) is an independent federal agency and one of the largest funders of humanities programs in the United States. Within the NEH, the Division of Education Programs supports humanities education primarily aimed at program and curriculum development and through professional development opportunities. To learn more, join NEH Program Officer Dr. Jason Harshman and faculty colleagues from around Oregon in a virtual workshop on February 16, 2024 from noon to 1:30 p.m. PT, which will conclude with a Q&A session. You will learn more about the variety of ways that NEH can support education projects at your institution and strategies for preparing a successful application. Please register to obtain access information to the event. Please contact Research Development Services if you have questions or need additional information.

UO Sustainability Awards

The Office of the Vice President for Research and Innovation (OVPRI) is seeking nominations for individuals or research teams for the 2024 Sustainability Awards. This award program aims to recognize individuals whose contributions deepen our culture of sustainability across a range of institutional activities. The OVPRI sponsors two of the Sustainability Awards: one for research and scholarship, and one for innovation and impact. Please fill out the online form by February 20, 2024 to make nominations (self-nominations welcome).

Honors, Awards and Prizes

Have you considered being nominated for an honor, award or prize that recognizes your teaching, research, and/or service to your profession? Are you a member of a society, association, academy, etc. related to your field or subdiscipline? If so, there are numerous opportunities for recognition. Furthermore, Research Development Services can help coordinate the nomination process. Please contact our office to learn more about the services we can provide you.
