External Review for Proposals
Faculty submitting grant proposals can receive a wide range of support from Research Development Services (RDS), including financial and logistical support to conduct a specialized, external review by a peer in a researcher's specific field. This targeted peer review is meant to identify potential weaknesses, specifically in a project's research strategy and/or methodology. RDS helps coordinate the logistics of the review and typically provides $300 toward honoraria that is matched by faculty to provide $600 in total to the external reviewer. Note that matching honoraria funds for faculty in the humanities and humanistic social sciences are now being provided by the College of Arts and Sciences and the Office of the Vice President for Research and Innovation (OVPRI). Learn more about the program and submit a request for funding on the OVPRI website.

Environment Initiative Webinar on Inflation Reduction Act
The UO Environment Initiative (EI) is hosting a webinar presentation by Professors Greg Dotson and Alai Reyes-Santos on the Inflation Reduction Act (IRA). IRA was enacted in August 2022 to provide hundreds of billions of dollars for environmental and climate change-related projects, including environmental justice projects. Professor Dotson will present an overview of the IRA and explain the opportunity it presents for UO faculty. Professor Reyes-Santos will discuss how to build environmental university-community partnerships that can be funded through the IRA. The purpose of this event is to give faculty as much information and lead time as possible to collectively think about current or potential partnerships in anticipation of funding becoming available. The event will be held on November 29, 2022 at noon. Please RSVP at this link by November 23 to attend. EI staff will follow up with a confirmation email and link.
